refs #3838 The geoms generated were created with 3 coordinates and transformed to 3D geoms, although the layer was 2D. Now the third coordinate is a NaN in 2D layers.

Me crea una capa en el TOC, con atributos pero en la Vista no muestra geometrías.

The output of "Random DEM" is correctly loaded in build 2408, while random vector layers not. Furthermore, the random vector layers are generated in the tmp-andami folder but gvSIG considers them as invalid layer (according to the validate_layer script, all the records are without geometry). But I can load them in other clients without problems.

More in detail, the random vector layers are not loaded because gvSIG is attempting to write 3D geometries instead of 2D ones:

Instead, the Random DEM result is not loaded in build 2413 because of #3952.

#5 - 02/08/2016 11:03 AM - Antonio Falciano

- Target version set to 2.3.0-2447-final (rev. org.gvsig.desktop-2.0.153)

The "Random vector layer" geoprocess doesn't work in the latest builds (2421 at the time of writing) because of feature/shape type mismatch (saving 3D geometries in a 2D shape), while "Random DEM" works fine since build 2415.

It seems that shape types in geoprocesses needs to be remapped again after the recent updates introduced in gvSIG 2.3, so this issue can affect also other geoprocesses.

In fact, if I try to load the result of "Random vector layer" in a view from the tmp-andami folder, it's loaded in the ToC, but not visible in the view. And there's the following warning in the gvSIG.log:

[...] Geometry type of Shape (1) does not match the geometry found (11) in the shape [...]

i.e. the same issue that happens also with other SEXTANTE geoprocesses (for instance, #4098).

It seems that the fix was not applied here. Same error also in build 2422.

Note: this ticket and #4098 are substantially the same.

Parece que en el proceso de generacion no actualice la dependencia entre el plugin de geoprosesos y la libreria de toolbox, asi que no se ha llevado los cambios de la ultima version de toolbox.
