Description

The script name is cut (e.g. "utorun") in the "Project without saving" dialog, when closing the composer without saving the script.

Hi Joaquín,

in order to reproduce it, create a new script and edit it without saving. Then try to close the tab of the script: a "Project without saving" dialog appears (see the screenshot in attachment). As we can see the script name is "utorun" instead of "autorun". Furthermore, it seems that this dialog is not translatable yet and its title should be "Script without saving". They're only little cosmetic issues.
